PML Leader's Challenge, often called PML for short, is unique in its design and presentation. The program is not simply designed to teach management about the importance and benefits of positive employee relations, good communications, leadership, etc. . .

Leader's Challenge is designed and presented in a unique "experiential learning" environment that forces attendees to "experience" success and failure, helps them understand how they react under pressure, makes them focus on being a leader and solving problems in an intense, non traditional training exercise.

PML Leader's Challenge is a powerful program in the way it teaches its lessons. Many adults won't apply new knowledge to their life without experiencing a strong psychological and/or emotional lesson. PML does that through the unique experiential learning exercise that makes up a significant portion of the seminar. This is why people leave PML calling Leader's Challenge the most valuable and unforgettable training event they have ever encountered. It's common to hear it referred to as "a life-changing event." Help your managers and supervisors earn their leadership wings as they successfully meet the challenge facing them in the workplace everyday. Let them experience Leader's Challenge and learn to become more effective in their jobs and better leaders in your organization.
